

SITE:	EVENT:	ORGANISATION:	START:	DESCRIPTION:	PUBLICATION
27 East Street, Olney	Error by Dev. Control required Watching brief rather than evaluation	Archaeologica	2005	Watching brief revealed a 'T' shaped corn dryer/ kiln of possible Roman date, pits of medieval and post-medieval date plus foundations of a row of 19th century cottages.	short note
Church Farm, Weston Underwood	Building recording	Archaeological Services & Consultancy	2005/07	Farm buildings arranged around two yards include a large threshing barn, stables, timber granary on staddles, a wash-house with a gable wall-cote and the remains of a bundle thatch roofed shelter shed.	short note
Oakgrove Millennium Community, Milton Keynes	Evaluation	Birmingham Archaeology	2005/07/11	Magnetic Susceptibility conducted over c.7ha by Stratascan. Followed by detailed magnetometry in areas A and C. This revealed geophysical anomalies. However, they could not be defined as characteristically archaeological	short note
Heathway, Featherstone Road, Wolverton Mill, Wolverton	Watching Brief	Archaeological Services & Consultancy	2005/07/12	Watching brief on drainage runs for new industrial unit. No archaeological features revealed or finds recovered.	short note
3 Chequers Lane, North Crawley	Watching brief	Richard Ivens	2005/07/25	Watching brief within medieval village core revealed only modern material.	short note
Recreation Ground, Stoke Goldington	Evaluation	North Buckinghamshire Archaeological Society	2005/07/9	Evaluation of the site of a Roman Road as part of the Time Team Roman Archaeology project. No evidence for Roman Road discovered. Some alluvium encountered and a flint arrowhead found	note on Society web site
Renny Lodge Hospital / workhouse, Newport Pagnell	Building recording	Archaeology & Planning Solutions	2005/08	The building survey of the demolished remains of Renny Lodge Hospital identified the original early 19th C building plan. Although demolished to ground level, enough remained to establish a coherent structural sequence comprising 3 phases of development.	article

Renny Lodge Development, Newport Pagnell	Strip, map and sample excavation	Archaeology & Planning Solutions / Wessex Archaeology	2005/08	Strip and record excavation identified late Iron Age/Romano British; medieval and pre-Renny Lodge post-medieval activity. LIA/RB dated from 1st-2nd C ceramics and representing 2 phases of activity, including the corner of a large ditched enclosure.	article
Mill Close, Olney	Watching Brief	Phoenix Consulting	2005/08	Watching brief carried out on foundations for conservatory revealed a single medieval rubbish pit containing pottery that dates it to the 12th century.	short note
7 High Street, Lavendon	Watching brief	Richard Ivens	2005/08/09	An archaeological watching brief was carried out during the excavation of foundations for a new extension at 7 High Street, Lavendon, Milton Keynes. No pre-modern archaeological deposits were observed, although a single sherd of medieval pottery was found	short note
Court Farm, Olney	Building recording	Archaeological Services & Consultancy	2005/09	Building record of part of mixed farm of 18th to 19th century date, but possible earlier origin. Buildings surveyed comprised a combined cow house, feed loft and cart shed of probable mid to late 19th century date.
Oxley Park West, Shenley Church End	Excavation	Oxford Archaeology	2005/09	Awaiting report	article
Shenley Common Farm North, Shenley Brook End	Strip, map and sample	Oxford Archaeology	2005/09	Awaiting report	article
Abbey farmhouse, Lavendon Grange, Lavendon	Evaluation	Network Archaeology	2005/09/07	Evaluation works on the site of a new swimming pool did not encounter any archaeological features. Geology comprised of friable limestone, which gave the impression of archaeological features.	short note

93 High Street, Newport Pagnell	Watching Brief	Phoenix Consulting	2005/09/07	Watching brief carried out on foundation trench for an extension to the rear of 93 High St, Newport Pagnell revealed a sequence of post-medieval levelling layers and garden soils sealing the natural.	short note
Renny Lodge, Newport Pagnell	Evaluation & excavation	Wessex Archaeology	2005/10	Excavation revealed part of late Iron Age/Roman field system and Roman road that developed into a small 2nd century AD roadside settlement that possibly continued through to the 4th century.	article
Ashleys, Olney	Strip, map and sample excavation	Oxford Archaeology	2005/10	Excavation revealed an Iron-Age pit alignment. One of the pits contained a burial.	article
Walnut Tree School	Evaluation	Archaeological Services & consultancy	2005/10/03	Trial trench evaluation comprising 6 trenches. No archaeology revealed.	short note
Willen Road (Caldecote) gravel quarry, Newport Pagnell	Evaluation	Archaeological Services & Consultancy	2005/10/05	Trial trenches revealed a concentration of occupation on the west of the site. This was dated from the later pre-Roman Iron Age to the 4th century AD and comprised a series of ditched enclosures containing pits and gullies.	note
The Bury, Astwood	Watching Brief	Archaeological Services & Consultancy	2005/10/06	A former 17th timber century house and adjacent 19th century cottages are being converted into two dwellings. A new extension on the north side of the building found the foundations of a 19th century extension but no significant archaeology.	short note
Northern Expansion Area, Great Linford	Evaluation	Northampton Archaeology (Mark Holmes)	2005/11/14	Field walking revealed a concentration of Romano-British pottery as well as manuring scatters of later pottery and some worked flints. Subsequent gradiometer survey on the area of the Romano-British pottery scatter revealed evidence of two sub-rectangular enclosures.	note
Little Brickhill: Milton Keynes Service Station	Watching Brief	Archaeological Services & Consultancy	2005/11/24	Works within the extra-mural area of Magiovinium did not reveal any archaeological features	short note
Olney Link Road	Evaluation	Oxford Archaeology	2005/11/29	Evaluation revealed complex geology but no archaeological features.	short note

Land adjacent to Stoke Road, Water Eaton	Excavation	Archaeological Services & Consultancy	2005/12	Saxon ditches of a field system lay beneath well-preserved ridge & furrow.	note
--	------------	---	---------	---	------