

Supply of the Electoral Register

We have a duty to publish the register of electors.

The following organisations and individuals are entitled to a copy of the electoral register when it's published:

- British Library
- National Library of Wales
- National Library of Scotland
- Returning Officer for a local government election
- (Acting) Returning Officer for a parliamentary election
- Local Returning Officer for a European Parliamentary Election
- Office for National Statistics
- The Electoral Commission
- The Boundary Commission
- The Court Service

The following organisations and individuals are entitled to a copy of the electoral register on request:

- elected representatives (including MPs, MEPs, local councillors) within Aylesbury Vale's registration area.
- holders of relevant elective offices within the meaning of Paragraph 1(8), Schedule 7 of the Political Parties, Elections and Referendums Act, 2000.
- candidates for elections at a parliamentary or local government election.
- local constituency parties.
- registered political parties.
- the council which appointed the Electoral Registration Officer.
- any other local authority which area contains all or part of the Electoral Registration Officer's responsibility such as county borough councils.
- parish and community councils.
- individual candidates at a UK Parliamentary or European Parliamentary Election and the Election Agent of a registered political party which submits a list of candidates at a European Parliamentary Election.
- any police force in Great Britain.
- National Criminal Intelligence Service.
- National Crime Squad.
- Police Information Technology Organisation.
- any body of constables established under an Enactment.
- security services, GCHQ and the Secret Intelligence Service.
- a public library archive service within the registration area